DIGITAL MARKETPLACE

The Real Web Buzz

When Joan Katzeff and her husband, Paul, considered a campaign to launch a premium line for their Thanksgiving Coffee Company, they wanted to market it to the doubly wired—people who get a daily fix not just from a jolt of java but from the Net as well. But when it came to online services, the Katzeffs didn't know their Sumatra from their Kona Blend, so they turned to Global Network Navigator (GNN), a World Wide Web-based information marketplace. Now, with an interactive coffee catalog on GNN, Thanksgiving Coffee is enjoying the sweet percolation of increasing business.

GNN is a business and information service run by O'Reilly & Associates, and it's just one of the ways your company can market online (other options include CommerceNet and NetAccess). GNN offers up-to-date news, interactive catalogs, and a global marketplace.

Web surfers access GNN for free. They can read about companies online, review their corporate announcements and events, even purchase products. GNN is an invaluable market-research tool, capturing extensive information about each "hit" on Thanksgiving Coffee's page. This is because each GNN consumer must fill out an extensive registration form that includes age, profession, and method of accessing the Net—which is tracked for each hit.

GNN startup fees, including design, coding, and production, begin at $1,000 (and range up to $15,000). Monthly and annual service fees are based on exposure or per-hit performance and can be structured as a percentage of online orders received. For more information, contact O'Reilly & Associates at (800) 998-9938 or adv1@gnn.com.

ONE-MINUTE GUIDE

Internet Tech Talk: An Essential Glossary

The Net jargon your MIS folks toss around is about as comprehensible as Swahili. Relax. Here's a minute's worth of fundamental Net terms to the rescue:

- ANONYMOUS FILE TRANSFER PROTOCOL (FTP) A standard that lets you sign into another computer on the Net and download files.
- BACKBONES High-speed links that connect networks.

- GOPHER A tool that lets you search for files, graphics, WAIS databases (see below), and more using onscreen menus.
- HYPERTEXT MARKUP LANGUAGE (HTML) Used for linking hypertext documents on the World Wide Web.
- T1 LINES High-bandwidth (1.544Mbps) telephone trunk lines. Many regional backbones use T1 lines and some use faster (44.21Mbps) T3 lines.

- TRANSMISSION CONTROL PROTOCOL/INTERNET PROTOCOL (TCP/IP) The lingua franca that allows computers to exchange messages and share resources across a network. You're not really on the Net without it.

- WIDE AREA INFORMATION SERVER (WAIS) A tool for retrieving documents from full-text databases on the Net—a great way to search Net archives.
